Date: 09-02-2022

Time: 11:00 am

Venue: Ganeshpara (a nearby village adopted by the College)

Report:

A gender awareness programme was organised by the forum in collaboration with IQAC of the college to commemorate the 13th year of the formation of Women’s Forum. Dr. Aditi Devi Choudhury inaugurated the programme, followed by a speech delivered by Dr. Nabajyoti Das, Principal of the College. Dr. Namita Sharma, Advisor of the forum, highlighted the few points on gender sensitive issues happening in the society. The co-ordinator of the IQAC Cell of the College, Dr. Jilmil Bora also stressed upon the awareness needed by the society about gender equality and stop gender discrimination still prevailing in some parts of our society. A street play named ‘TRP’ was also staged in the village on the these of how the rape victims are always blamed for the crimes that happened to them rather than the culprits by the media and the society. The prime motive this outreach programme was to make the society aware of ‘Equality’ in the context of gender, which is quite essential for a healthy society. After the play, treasurer of the forum, Mrs. Pranita Kakati distributed face masks to the villagers keeping in mind the still prevailing Covid-19 pandemic. While the other members of the forum, distributed sanitary napkins among the girls and women of the village. These initiative of the Forum was greatly praised by the Dr. Nabajyoti Das, Principal of the College and all the residents of Ganeshpara. Finally, vote of thanks was offered by Dr. Niva Thakuria to all the members of the forum, the office staff, the students and all the residents of Ganeshpara without whom this event would not have been successful.

Total number of participants: 130 (including faculties and students)

Number of girls/women who received sanitary napkins: 50
